

Pay-for-Performance Management System (PPMS) Newsletter

May 2011

INTRODUCTION

With the approaching anniversary of the U.S. Army Medical Research and Materiel Command (USAMRMC) Personnel Demonstration Project (PDP) on June 7, 2011, it soon will be time for all civilian employees in the PDP to receive their 2011 performance rating. The end of the rating cycle for these employees is June 30, 2011. This newsletter highlights key aspects of the PPMS, addresses the major roles and responsibilities of participants in the PPMS, and provides a schedule of events to assist you through the final steps of the PPMS process.

The PPMS is designed to provide an objective, effective, efficient, and flexible way of assessing, compensating, and managing civilian employees in the PDP workforce. It provides a method for linking compensation (e.g., pay progression/adjustment and/or bonus) directly with employee performance. The system demands effective supervisor-employee communication in jointly setting performance objectives that are reflective of mission needs and consistent with the duties and responsibilities associated with the employee's occupational family and payband. Importantly, the PPMS ensures that employees have an active role in the performance appraisal process.

There are three major events associated with the performance evaluation process.

1. The first event consists of the supervisor and employee jointly setting the performance objectives and performance element weights that comprise the performance plan (USAMRMC Form 70-R-E entitled "Performance Objectives Worksheet" [see page 7]) for the new performance appraisal rating cycle. Performance objectives are statements of job responsibilities. Performance elements are generic attributes of job performance, such as technical competence, that an employee exhibits in performing job responsibilities.

Each performance element is assigned a weight, in multiples of five, between a specified range. The total weight of all elements is 100 points. The supervisor, in concert with the employee, assigns each element some portion of the 100 points in accordance with its importance for mission attainment. These weights will be developed along with performance objectives.

The performance plan, including objectives and the weight assigned to each performance element, should be in place within 30 days of the beginning of the rating cycle and may be modified during the cycle when significant changes occur.

2. The second major event in the performance evaluation process is the mid-year review, which normally is completed during January. During the mid-year review, the supervisor and employee meet to discuss the employee's progress in achieving the agreed-upon performance objectives and to determine if any of the objectives should be modified to reflect changes in the requirements of the job.

3. The third event in the PPMS entails completion of the Performance Appraisal (USAMRMC Form 71-R-E [see page 9]) and begins during the final weeks of the performance cycle. Key activities that raters must ensure occur during the PPMS cycle are provided as a "Rater's Checklist" on page 12.

The following pages focus on providing you the information needed to successfully work through the final steps of the PPMS process.

PPMS END-OF-CYCLE PROCESS

There are four major steps that must occur in consonant with the end of one review cycle and the beginning of the next annual performance cycle. They are:

1. Employee prepares and provides supervisor with his/her list of accomplishments.
2. Employee and supervisor hold a performance review meeting.
3. Supervisor completes the employee's written performance appraisal.
4. Supervisor conducts an evaluation feedback meeting with employee.

Employee prepares and provides supervisor with his/her list of accomplishments.

As the end of the rating cycle approaches, supervisors will ask each employee to prepare and provide them with his/her list of accomplishments as they relate to his/her performance plan (i.e., USAMRMC Form 70-R-E). These should be provided at least 2 weeks prior to the end of the performance rating cycle. In this regard, employees may find it helpful to record key accomplishments in a log during the rating cycle.

Employee and supervisor hold a performance review meeting.

The supervisor reviews and considers the employee's input before conducting the Performance Review Meeting with the employee to discuss job performance and accomplishments. This meeting may occur anytime after receipt of the employee's accomplishments but should be completed by 1 week after the end of the rating cycle. Employees will be given an opportunity to give a personal performance assessment and to describe their accomplishments in more detail. The supervisor and employee will discuss job performance and accomplishments in relation to the performance elements, objectives, and planned activities. Supervisors never assign performance scores or ratings before or during this meeting.

Supervisor completes employee's written performance appraisal.

Following the performance review meeting, the supervisor prepares the employee's written Performance Appraisal (i.e., USAMRMC Form 71-R-E). Based on the employee's input for and information received at the performance review meeting, the employee's performance plan and position description, as well as other input the supervisor may request, the rater will determine a rating (numerical score) for each performance element.

The evaluation of employee performance is based on a numerical rating derived from the quality/level (expressed in percent) of achievement for each element and the corresponding score assigned for that element. Selection of the quality/level percentage and numerical performance score to assign to each of the employee's performance elements is facilitated by use of the Performance Standards Summary and/or Benchmark Performance Standards (BPS) (see pages 5-6). The resultant numerical rating for each element is recorded on the employee's Performance Appraisal Form. The overall rating equals the sum of the individual numerical scores derived for each of the corresponding elements. Employees receive an assigned rating of "Superior," "Exceptional," "Successful," or "Failure" depending upon the overall numerical score of 85-100, 70-84, 50-69, or 0-49, respectively.

If any critical element is assigned a numerical score of less than 50% of its assigned weight, then the overall rating will be "Failure" even if the cumulative score for all elements exceeds 49. When this happens, the rater must comment on the Performance Appraisal as to why the rating is Failure. The process of evaluating and scoring a performance appraisal is explained in more detail on page 5.

The rater's completed Performance Appraisal is provided to the senior rater for review and optional input and must be completed within 30 days of the end of the rating cycle.

Supervisor conducts an evaluation feedback meeting with employee.

The supervisor holds an Evaluation Feedback Meeting with the employee following receipt of the senior rater input. The supervisor informs the employee of management's appraisal of the employee's performance, as well as the employee's numerical score, overall rating, and recommendations regarding payout shares. During this evaluation feedback meeting, the supervisor and employee will also discuss and document performance objectives and element weights for the new rating period. The employee's completed Performance Appraisal is then forwarded to the Pay Pool Manager for final processing.

PPMS PAYOUT SCHEDULE

The end of the PPMS process cycle requires intense management and attention to detail to ensure that performance appraisals are completed on time. This is a rater and management responsibility that is critical, as there are a number of ensuing activities that must also be completed in meeting the effective payout date for eligible PDP employees. September 11, 2011, has been established as the effective payout date for the annual performance rating cycle that ends on June 30, 2011. Table 1 provides the timelines and activities that must be completed to meet the approved effective payout date.

TABLE 1. PPMS PAYOUT TIMELINE AND ASSOCIATED EVENT

01 JUN 11	Rater requests list of employee accomplishments.
15 JUN 11	Employee provides list of accomplishments to rater.
30 JUN 11	End of the Annual Performance Rating Cycle.
14 JUL 11	Performance Review meetings completed.
29 JUL 11	Annual performance appraisals and evaluation feedback meetings completed. Supervisor completes Performance Appraisal with rating points assigned to each element, overall rating assigned, type of rating noted (e.g., annual), and number of shares recommended (Superior = 2, Exceptional = 1). Total Dollar Value of Shares, Base Increase/Bonus sections of Performance Appraisal Form are left blank. Senior rater reviews, initials, and may provide optional comments. Rater informs ratee of his/her appraisal during evaluation feedback meeting and forwards appraisals to Pay Pool Manager.
05 AUG 11	Pay Pool Managers verify that all appraisal forms for their pay pool have been received and review them for administrative accuracy. Pay Pool Managers send hard copy of completed Appraisal Forms to CPAC.

9 SEP 11	NECPOC completes quality control check on Summary Report.
11 SEP 11	Effective date of payouts.

SPECIAL NOTE: Specific requirements reflected above must be completed. The schedule dates are NLT dates that must be met to ensure timely processing utilizing FY11 monies.

KEY FEATURES OF PPMS

There are a number of additional key features of the PPMS that raters and ratees should keep in mind.

Annual Rating Period

1. The performance period for the next rating cycle for the USAMRMC PDP is July 1, 2011 through June 30, 2012.
2. Employees who move into a different position within 60 days or less to the end of the rating period will be rated at the time of their move based upon their performance in the old position. Employees who leave their positions to accept other Federal positions after completing at least 60 days under approved objectives and performance elements will receive special appraisals to provide their gaining supervisors.
3. Newly hired employees with less than 60 days remaining to the end of the rating period will not be rated that year but will receive the full amount of any General Increase and locality payment. No percentage of their base pay will be put into the pay pool for that year.
4. Raters who leave their position will prepare special ratings for all employees under their supervision who have been under approved objectives and performance elements for a minimum of 60 days. The rater will prepare an annual rating when the employee has been covered by approved objectives for 60 days, and 59 days or less remain in the current rating cycle.

Minimum Rating Period

The minimum rating period is 60 days. Employees cannot be rated until they perform under approved performance objectives and weighted performance elements for a minimum of 60 days.

Official Rating Chain

Each employee will have an identified rating chain consisting of at least a rater and a senior rater.

Pay Pool Manager

Pay Pool Managers are appointed by each Commander/Director and are responsible for managing the allocated pay pool. They also ensure timely completion of performance appraisals and must certify in writing to the Commander/Director no later than 45 days following the end of the rating period that all performance appraisals have been completed.

A Pay Pool Manager is accountable for staying within pay pool limits. The Pay Pool Manager assigns performance pay increases and/or performance bonuses to individuals on the basis of a rating, the value of the performance pay pool resources available, and the individual's current basic rate of pay within a given payband.

The payout calculations are currently done under the direction of the USAMRMC PDP CPAC Team, using EPOS software that generates a Summary Report for each pay pool that CPAC provides the Pay Pool Manager. The Pay Pool Manager verifies the performance payout data on the Summary Report, identifies any required changes, and forwards them to the CPAC.

Performance payouts are calculated for each individual and the total pay pool payout cannot exceed the resources that are available for payout. Pay adjustments for the rating cycle will be effective not later than the end of the current fiscal year. The Commanding General, USAMRMC, will reassess the payout factor at the end of the annual rating and payout process to determine if an adjustment is warranted for the upcoming rating cycle.

Pay Pool Composition

The value of a given pay pool is derived from the payout factor (percentage) and the sum of the basic rate of pay (not locality) for all individuals in a pay pool. The Commanding General, USAMRMC, established a pay pool factor of 2.5% for the current performance appraisal rating cycle. The payouts made to employees from the performance pay pool will be a mix of base pay increases and/or bonus payments. Some portion of the activity's budget will be reserved for special ad hoc awards (e.g., suggestion awards, on-the-spot awards, and special act awards) and will not be included as part of the pay pool.

BENCHMARK PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

The Benchmark Performance Standards were developed to guide raters in evaluating (i.e., selecting the generic level of achievement expressed in percent) and scoring (numerical rating) an employee’s performance for each of the weighted performance elements.

As can be seen in Tables 2 and 3, there are four generic levels available for expressing employee achievement for each performance element: 100%, 70%, 50%, and “unsatisfactory” (<50%). In scoring, the rater first determines the employee’s generic level of achievement for a performance element, uses the BPS (Table 3) to locate the column corresponding to the weight assigned to that element, and then selects a numerical score from the range of points available within the column that is bounded by the generic level of achievement selected.

If, for example, a performance element (e.g., Technical Competence) with an assigned weight of 40 was evaluated at the full 100% level, the numerical score for the employee would be 40—the full value of the element’s assigned weight. If a score of 36 (corresponds to 90% achievement level) was selected, the rater is indicating that the performance was evaluated as less than the full 100% level for that element but well above the 70% generic level of achievement.

The BPS is used to evaluate and score each of the performance elements. The sum of the numerical rating score for each performance element is used to determine the employee’s overall rating for the performance appraisal. For example, an appraisal with a numerical sum of 86 would be assigned an overall rating of “Superior.” If any performance element were assigned a numerical score of less than 50% of its assigned weight, however, the assigned overall rating would be “Failure.”

Supervisor employees must also be rated on the Management/Leadership and/or Supervisory/EEO elements. The assigned weight of each element must be in multiples of five, between the specified weight range. The total assigned weights must equate to 100.

MANAGEMENT'S NUMERICAL RATING: Before completing the numerical and overall rating sections on page 1, the Rater must consult with the Senior Rater, and the Senior Rater must consult with the appropriate Review Board (if one exists for the Pay Pool). After these management officials have determined the appropriate characterization for the annual rating, the Rater will insert the official management rating (numerical and overall) scores on page 1. The scores on page 1 are the rating of management and may not necessarily coincide with the opinion of the Rater. (e.g., If a Senior Rater nonconcurs with a Rater's proposed score, and the Review Board agrees with the Senior Rater, the Rater will record the Senior Rater's numerical and overall ratings on page 1 of the evaluation form.) Management must be prepared to substantiate the propriety of its evaluation in the event of a grievance. Enter numeric rating for each element rated, and the total. Total may not exceed 100. An element rating of less than 50% of the weight assigned will result in an overall "F" rating.
